GOOD ROADS CAMPAIGN PLANNED IN MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 6. (Sp.)—A statewide campaign for the establishment of good roads will be launched in Mississippi at the conclusion of the war, according to plans being formed by N. A. Kramer, state highway engineer, who intends using soldier-labor in an effort to help relieve the congestion in the return of the men. The establishment of five trunk lines running east and west and at least three running north and south is the goal the highway department will seek. Federal aid will be available for the establishment of these highways. A meeting of the State Motor Transport committee, composed of Mr. Kramer, J. J. Smith, Jackson, president of the Good Roads association, and D. W. Robbins, Tupelo, highway commissioner of the state, will be held here the middle of this month to discuss plans for the formation of motor truck express lines. This committee will work in cooperation with the highway department in the proposed good roads campaign.

PRISON FARM CROPS GOOD DESPITE RAINS

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 6. (Sp.)—Despite the influenza epidemic and a month of rain, crops on the state prison farms are in good condition, with the exception of the pea and hay crops, which are practically lost, according to the reports of the trustees of the Mississippi penitentiary in session here Tuesday. Prisoners were all reported happy, and Col. W. A. Montgomery, one of the trustees, said in his report: "If we can make a million dollars for the state and still point with pride to the humane treatment of convicts, it is more like an advance in civilization." The corn and cotton crops will greatly exceed expectations, the trustees reported. Average 3,500 bushels of cotton have been picked on the Sunflower farm, one of the largest cotton plantations in the world, yielding more than 17,000 acres in cultivation.
